ABOUT US

OVERVIEW

Quad Partners was founded in 2000 to make value-added private investments in the education industry. Today, Quad is one of the most active investors in privately-owned education companies in the United States.

Our strategy is to invest in small and mid-sized education businesses with significant potential, then apply the unique operating and financial expertise of our principals to help managers drive company growth while maintaining or improving academic results.

Quad manages over $400 million of equity capital from leading institutional investors.

VALUE-ADDED

Quad is focused exclusively on the education industry. In addition to capital, we work actively with management to maximize the value and quality of our portfolio companies by leveraging our:

- Relationships with key decision makers and business partners in education and government
- Financial and operating expertise
- Insight into education market trends and deal flow
- Pipeline of acquisitions, mergers and investments
- Investment banking expertise to drive capital-raising and exit value
- Technology expertise
- Network of experienced management talent

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

FOCUS

Quad is focused on the education industry. Within this arena, our interests are broad. For example, we have made or evaluated potential investments in:

- Career-oriented postsecondary schools
- K-12 proprietary schools
- Early education and childcare
- Core and supplemental curriculum
- Tutoring and after-school programs
- Educational consumer products and services
- Professional education and journals
- Corporate training and knowledge management
- Online learning

CRITERIA

Quad invests in a broad range of transactions and with various structures. We primarily make buyout investments, but also provide capital for growth, recapitalizations, refinancings and shareholder liquidity. We aim to invest in companies with established business models, positive cash flow and significant growth potential.
